Autobiographical essays, framed by two interpretive essays by the editor, describe the power of an object to evoke emotion and provoke thought: reflections on a cello, a laptop computer, a 1964 Ford Falcon, an apple, a mummy in a museum, and other "things-to-think-with." For Sherry Turkle, "We think with the objects we love; we love the objects we think with." In Evocative Objects, Turkle collects writings by scientists, humanists, artists, and designers that trace the power of everyday things. These essays reveal objects as emotional and intellectual companions that anchor memory, sustain relationships, and provoke new ideas. These days, scholars show new interest in the importance of the concrete. This volume's special contribution is its focus on everyday riches: the simplest of objects—an apple, a datebook, a laptop computer—are shown to bring philosophy down to earth. The poet contends, "No ideas but in things." The notion of evocative objects goes further: objects carry both ideas and passions. In our relations to things, thought and feeling are inseparable. Whether it's a student's beloved 1964 Ford Falcon (left behind for a station wagon and motherhood), or a cello that inspires a meditation on fatherhood, the intimate objects in this collection are used to reflect on larger themes—the role of objects in design and play, discipline and desire, history and exchange, mourning and memory, transition and passage, meditation and new vision. In the interest of enriching these connections, Turkle pairs each autobiographical essay with a text from philosophy, history, literature, or theory, creating juxtapositions at once playful and profound. So we have Howard Gardner's keyboards and Lev Vygotsky's hobbyhorses; William Mitchell's Melbourne train and Roland Barthes' pleasures of text; Joseph Cevetello's glucometer and Donna Haraway's cyborgs. Each essay is framed by images that are themselves evocative. Essays by Turkle begin and end the collection, inviting us to look more closely at the everyday objects of our lives, the familiar objects that drive our routines, hold our affections, and open out our world in unexpected ways.

Independence period timer, in his work using sensationalist novel principles. Sensational themes, sudden plot turns, pathetic philosophical digressions - these are the main engines Rožukas novels, most of them will never go without forthright eroticism. Eccentric mix of genres and prunes language of these works brings us closer to the amateur writings and undisputed expertise and attentiveness to current issues - the cognitive, literary publicist.

There are a bazillion titles on bookstore shelves and more than a few are travel-themed, but let me assure you: the Travelogues are different. These aren't the "got up, had banana pancake for breakfast, before shuffling-off to see some temples" kinds of stories. That's probably because I'm not your typical fuddy-duddy travel writer. "Real" travel writers are glamorous, but real traveling is all I know. Vacations are when everything is safe and convenient and when you come to expect words like 'aioli' on the menu and when every "adventure" can be charged to American Express. Real traveling, on the other hand, is when everything can happen and nothing happens as planned and, whatever happened, mañana it will seem like a damn fine stroke of luck. At its most banal, day-to-day, real traveling is anything but normal and never glamorous. Except, maybe, in retrospect. The reality is that —very often— I have no idea where I'm going, except that I am. Nor how I'm gonna get there, except that I will. All these stories unfold as they may. That's what these books are about. That's what makes them different. The Travelogues pick up where traditional travel literature leaves off. They don't mess around, pretending to describe every experience as if it were the feature in Condé Nast Traveler. They do, however, reveal what it's really like to travel Out There. They describe everything: the good, the twisted, the ugly, and —occasionally— the sublime. No punches are pulled. It's all in there. These are all out-of-the-ordinary experiences that lie within reach of ordinary people like you and I. Anyone can go and do those things. You too..., but only if you want to. That's what the Travelogues are. That's what "The South" is. Go ahead: discover the new kind of travel writing.

In these seven stories the mourning for the death of a lover is shown, an unfinished story. Prettier from above, the debut feature of Germán Donoso Coppa These stories talk about death but also tell a world where HIV/AIDS is an unspoken epidemic that people want to think is over, even though it keeps on killing. This is a love story, it is also a story of illness and death, but above all this is a love story. Donoso Coppa's writing shows a world with many overlapping veils, social class, gender, queerness and love to put together a cocktail that is sometimes hilarious, touching and several times hopeless. In the record of José Donoso and a kind of Lemebel without frills, Donoso Coppa's pen manages to account for new and old problems of the LGBTQ+ scene.

A national bestseller and acclaimed guide to Buddhism for beginners and practitioners alike In this simple but important volume, Stephen Batchelor reminds us that the Buddha was not a mystic who claimed privileged, esoteric knowledge of the universe, but a man who challenged us to understand the nature of anguish, let go of its origins, and bring into being a way of life that is available to us all. The concepts and practices of Buddhism, says Batchelor, are not something to believe in but something to do—and as he explains clearly and compellingly, it is a practice that we can engage in, regardless of our background or beliefs, as we live every day on the path to spiritual enlightenment.

Cultural critic Fredric Jameson, renowned for his incisive studies of the passage of modernism to postmodernism, returns to the movement that dramatically broke with all tradition in search of progress for the first time since his acclaimed A Singular Modernity. The Modernist Papers is a tour de froce of analysis and criticism, in which Jameson brings his dynamic and acute thought to bear on the modernist literature of the nineteenth and twentieth centuries. Jameson discusses modernist poetics, including intensive discussions of the work of Baudelaire, Rimbaud, Mallarmé, Wallace Stevens, Joyce, Proust, and Thomas Mann. He explores the peculiarities of the American literary field, taking in William Carlos Williams and the American epic, and examines the language theories of Gertrude Stein. Refusing to see modernism as simply a Western phenomenon he also pays close attention to its Japanese expression; while the complexities of a late modernist representation of twentieth-century politics are articulated in a concluding section on Peter Weiss's novel The Aesthetics of Resistance. Challenging our previous understanding of the literature of this period, this monumental work will come to be regarded as the classic study of modernism.

"A tale of diversity within our damaged landscapes, The Mushroom at the End of the World follows one of the strangest commodity chains of our times to explore the unexpected corners of capitalism. Here, we witness the varied and peculiar worlds of matsutake commerce: the worlds of Japanese gourmets, capitalist traders, Hmong jungle fighters, industrial forests, Yi Chinese goat herders, Finnish nature guides, and more. These companions also lead us into fungal ecologies and forest histories to better understand the promise of cohabitation in a time of massive human destruction." - Publisher's description.

ME ROUBARAM UNS DIAS CONTADOS é a última narrativa de fôlego escrita por Rodrigo de Souza Leão, que chega às livrarias pela Editora Record na data em que completa um ano de sua morte. O texto inédito, organizado pelo poeta e jornalista Ramon Mello, curador de sua obra, é um romance que beira a autobiografia, em que Rodrigo é, ao mesmo tempo, autor e personagem de suas próprias histórias. Mas ele ignora com habilidade e extrapola esses limites em que a noção de realidade está o tempo todo em expansão, produzindo uma comunidade de muitos protagonistas. Em ME ROUBARAM UNS DIAS CONTADOS, a polifonia de vozes tece laços, mais do que afetivos, criados pelos personagens. Não há um único Rodrigo, há muitos e distintos entre si. Mas entre tantos personagens o leitor com certeza localizará semelhanças e serão essas semelhanças que farão o livro — sua vertiginosa história — fluir com a naturalidade, ora de um conto de fadas, ora de um romance policial, como explica o poeta e amigo Leonardo Gandolfi, que assina a apresentação do livro. Humor, ironia, derrisão fazem as palavras, muitas vezes duras, fruírem espontaneamente em meio a sorrisos amarelos. Como o autor se desdobra em personagens, este livro se desdobra em outros livros – o que só faz sentido se estiverem reunidos dentro do mesmo caos: sexo virtual, gozofones, eletrochoques, perseguições da CIA ou KGB, filmes, músicas, pinturas, poemas e cacoc emocionais... ME ROUBARAM UNS DIAS CONTADOS é um belo mergulho na condição humana; em especial, na dura tarefa de existir de um escritor, que convive não só com seus fantasmas, mas também com seus remédios.

Volume 4 focuses on additions and the resulting substitutions at carbon-carbon σ -bonds. Part 1 includes processes generally considered as simple polar reactions, reactive electrophiles and nucleophiles adding to alkenes and alkynes. A major topic is Michael-type addition to electron deficient σ -bonds, featured in the first six chapters. In part 2 are collected the four general processes leading to nucleophilic aromatic substitution, including radical chain processes and transition metal activation through to σ -complexation. Metal-activated addition (generally by nucleophiles) to alkenes and polyenes is presented in part 3, including allylic alkylation catalyzed by palladium. The coverage of nonpolar additions in part 4 includes radical additions, organometal addition (Heck reaction), carbene addition, and 1,3-dipolar cycloadditions.

"A breathless thriller. . . . If a good roller-coaster is what you want, step up and have your ticket punched."—People A female judge finds her life and her career on the line when the defendant in a high-profile lawsuit is killed in this riveting and stylish novel of greed, murder and justice, from New York Times #1 bestselling author Lisa Scottoline. Attractive, sexy, tough-minded Cate Fante has just been appointed to the federal bench in Philadelphia. Uncomfortable among the elite meritocracy of the federal judiciary, the hard-charging woman with working class roots secretly indulges her taste for bad boys and men who work with their hands, like those she knew growing up in an old northeastern Pennsylvania coal-mining town. Presiding over a high-profile multi-million-dollar lawsuit, Cate quickly learns that being a judge doesn't always mean she can do justice. While a wronged former Philly ADA has the moral high ground, the sleazy television producer he's suing has the law on his side. Upset over the trial's outcome, Cate wants to forget with a few drinks and a night of anonymous sex. But when she realizes she's made a mistake, the stranger she picked up becomes aggressive, and she barely escapes without getting seriously hurt. For Cate though, the trouble has only begun. Returning home, she learns that the TV producer from her court case has been murdered. Then the body of her failed one-night stand is discovered. Suddenly Cate's secret private life is splashed across the media and her job is in jeopardy. Her only hope is to find a murderer and clear her name. But can she uncover the truth before the cold-blooded killer silences her?

These essays on nine women artists are framed by the question, born of feminism, "What evaluative criteria can be applied to women's art?" Since the 1970s Rosalind Krauss has been exploring the art of painters, sculptors, and photographers, examining the intersection of these artists concerns with the major currents of postwar visual culture: the question of the commodity, the status of the subject, issues of representation and abstraction, and the viability of individual media. These essays on nine women artists are framed by the question, born of feminism, "What evaluative criteria can be applied to women's art?" In the case of surrealism, in particular, some have claimed that surrealist women artists must either redraw the lines of their practice or participate in the movement's misogyny. Krauss resists that claim, for these "bachelors" are artists whose expressive strategies challenge the very ideals of unity and mastery identified with masculinist aesthetics. Some of this work, such as the "part object" (Louise Bourgeois) or the "formless" (Cindy Sherman) could be said to find its power in strategies associated with such concepts as écriture féminine. In the work of Agnes Martin, Eva Hesse, or Sherrie Levine, one can make the case that the power of the work can be revealed only by recourse to another type of logic altogether. Bachelors attempts to do justice to these and other artists (Claude Cahun, Dora Maar, Louise Lawler, Francesca Woodman) in the terms their works demand.

Evocative Objects EDIZIONI DEDALO

All'opera di Proust, a credere ai cultori della proustothérapie, si attribuisce anche il merito di migliorare la nostra vita e di aiutarci a comprenderla. Negli ultimi anni si sono moltiplicati studi, biografie, ricerche su famiglia e amici, sono nati polar e bande dessinée variamente ispirati alla Recherche, il più grande romanzo del secolo. Alla luce di recenti materiali inediti, questo libro, nuovo e originale, ideato e coordinato da Anna Dolfi, grazie alla partecipazione di ricercatori di generazioni e formazioni diverse, si muove alla ricerca della tonalità proustiana, del suono inconfondibile di una scrittura che l'autore ha inseguito correggendo continuamente i suoi testi, e delle modalità di sviluppo e trasmissione a cui la sua opera è stata sottoposta dalla critica e dalle traduzioni che ne hanno inevitabilmente alterato la voce. Il 'tono' Proust, nel centenario della morte, presenta una lettura inedita e polifonica del grande Marcel: ripercorre tracce perdute e pagine dimenticate, indaga cosa hanno prodotto il desiderio e la malattia. Si scopre perfino un Proust che ha percorso le nostre paure e closure da pandemia, sperimentando ogni percorso della memoria, e che spesso ci è arrivato 'a pezzi' per responsabilità di quanti non l'hanno letto per intero, dimenticando i consigli dei suoi grandi interpreti e il segno lasciato in scrittori, poeti, pensatori italiani e stranieri. L'architettura di questo libro consente di muoversi liberamente tra le diverse proposte e ricrea in una paradossale unità quella disseminazione di temi e figure, affioramenti e intermittenze, tipica della poetica e dell'opera proustiana.

Âgée de vingt-six ans, Élise rêve de donner un nouveau sens à sa vie. À la suite d'étranges coïncidences, elle quitte tout pour l'Empire centrafricain dans l'espoir d'y rencontrer le grand amour. Alors qu'elle se trouve confrontée à des événements sociopolitiques graves, un arbre merveilleux vient transformer son parcours chaotique en initiation spirituelle. Sa découverte de l'extrême pauvreté, les violences frappant ce continent ainsi que la mort à laquelle elle échappe de justesse l'amèneront-elles à remettre en question sa vision utopique du bonheur en amour ? Le caractère initiatique du roman amène le lecteur à lâcher-prise avec les travers du destin, à adopter une attitude sereine et positive face à l'adversité, à avoir confiance en soi. Ce récit d'aventures, aussi profond qu'envoûtant, enseigne par ses multiples pérégrinations que le plus beau des voyages est celui que l'on fait vers soi. À PROPOS DE L'AUTEURE Née en 1953 à Châteauroux dans l'Indre, Aline Poquereau Respinger, après des études supérieures de droit, décide de donner un nouveau sens à sa vie et va en Afrique où elle passe vingt ans. Elle y est initiée à la géomancie arabe. Passionnée, elle poursuit sa quête de connaissance des arts divinatoires avec le tarot de Marseille et le tarot de Belline. Mon secret flamboyant revient sur cette partie de sa vie et se pose comme une initiation au développement personnel.
